

C-KOHA

For long KOHA has been known to be the gold standard of Library Automation Softwares. It is being used in thousands of institutes and universities around the world. It has the involvement of more than 300 software developers – with expertise in different technologies. In its own right, it is a revolution in the field of Library Software.

But, often times Library Automation softwares are too complex for use– both by the students and by the library-staff working under the Librarians. C-KOHA is about to change this.

C-KOHA is an extremely simplified version of Koha. Developed by the engineers at Cameo Media Labs, our effort has been to make KOHA as easy to use as

Google.com

For a gmail and google.com user, C-KOHA feels familiar and easy to learn. Typically 1 to 2 hours are sufficient for a Google.com user. Cameo has mainly used the simple-menus and clean-screen design philosophy.
